

WINNIPEG MOB
RAIDS PARLIAMENT

2,000 Strikers and Sympathizers Force Way Into Assembly and Denounce Premier.

Winnipeg, May 31.—A parading crowd of 2,000 returned soldiers and union men espousing the labor side of the general strike in Winnipeg today swept through the Provincial House of Parliament and marched to the City Hall and broke up a council meeting. In both buildings speakers, using violent language, charged that Premier T. C. Norris and Mayor Charles F. Gray were not dealing properly with the strike situation and shouted "That something had better be done soon."

This was the second parade to Parliament in two days. The marchers notified Premier Norris they would pay him a third call Monday. Tonight city and federal officers were considering the advisability of asking for military forces to guard public property on the face of a situation more serious than it has been since the general strike began on May 15. City officials feared further attempts at demonstrations might involve more of the cooler heads among the strike leaders, who seemed to be in the minority in today's parade.

MOB LEADERS TO BE PUNISHED

Nation-wide Campaign for Investigation of Lynching has been Started.

New York, May 30.—A nation-wide campaign for a congressional investigation of lynching has been inaugurated as a result of the mob murder of Jay Lynch, a white man at Lamar, Mo., the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced today.

State and local authorities have been proven "utterly unable and in many cases unwilling" to cope with mob violence, the association said. Congressional action was necessary to set in motion machinery for ending "this threat to civilization."

The association declared that twenty-one persons had been lynched five of them burned to death in the United States this year.

QUIET OBSERVANCE OF DECORATION DAY

Although Monett had no public Decoration services, the day was more generally observed than usual. The cemeteries were visited by many people all day who lavishly decorated the graves with flowers. Very few people have not lost a member of the family or close friend the last year on account of war and the prevalence of disease and the day was full of sadness for many.

HANDICAPPED BY MODESTY

One of the saddest things in life is to see talented people go through the world unappreciated and unknown, because of their modesty, while others of less ability achieve success by the simple process of making a big blow about themselves. The person who shrinks from self-applause often finds that his diffidence is mistaken for incompetence. On the other hand, the person who puts on "front" and has no scruples about self-advertisement is accepted at his own valuation. He "gits thar" by sheer force of gall.

Which is preliminary to noting that southwest Missouri strawberry growers are this year receiving around $6 a crate for their product. Figuring 100 crates to the acre, this means that an acre of berries will produce something like $600. A grower with five acres will achieve a gross income of $3,000. And on this land that sells from 40 to 100 dollars an acre.

Considering what a killing could be made in southwest Missouri if it had a bunch of really boosters behind it like the arid Rio Grande Valley of Texas has. If the Rio Grande Valley were selling trainloads of strawberries this year at $6 a crate, what an awful halo they would make about it! Double excursion trains would be running down there and land would be selling for $1,000 an acre.

But here—oh well, we are not good advertisers. When we have a drought we tell the world about it, but when we make a big success we are modest. We don't like to brag.

We don't know how to put on "front" and we hesitate about employing a lot of blatant hirelings to blow us. Like the modest man of talent, southwest Missouri's diffidence holds it back. It is a land that flows with strawberries and cream; a land of a delightful climate; a land where water does not have to be pumped out of a river to bring verdure to its beautiful hills and valleys. It does not give encouragement to promoters and hot air merchants. It knows it has virtue and it is content to let the world find out about these virtues without the aid of press agents and paid emissaries.

Consequently, in a world that likes to be humbugged southwest Missouri is not appreciated at its full value. Following the berry crop there is going to be a repetition of last year's bumper wheat crop. Likewise we will have oats and potatoes. And we have green pastures for the stock, the best water in the world and the best society. We have schools, churches, lodges. We have everything except gall and ability to blow. And because we lack gall, our good land sells for about one-tenth of what land brings down in the Rio Grande Valley and in California where they have learned the value of brag.—Sarcoxie Record.

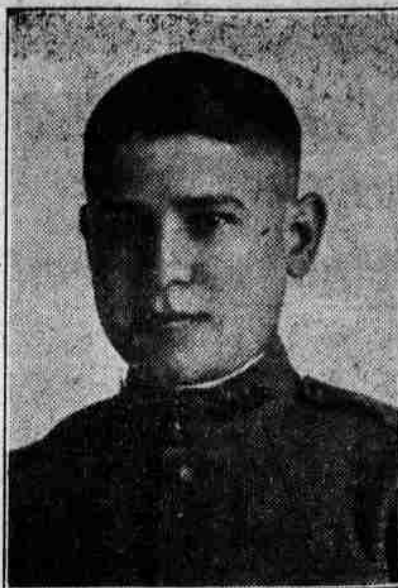

Weaver R. Bennett and Carl Bradford spent Sunday in Springfield.

KEMPER MILITARY SCHOOL
GRADUATES 77

Special to The Times.
Boonville, Mo., June 2.—Kemper Military school passed the three-quarters of a century mark today, being the only school in Missouri except the State University that has been able to celebrate its seventy-fifth anniversary. The day was observed by the graduation of a class of seventy-seven cadets, among whom were H. Arnaud, son of E. Arnaud of Monett, and H. W. Harms, Joplin.

OUR NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

The school board has employed Guy H. Capps of Bolivar, Mo., as superintendent of our schools. The board is to be congratulated on employing Mr. Capps for this position, as he is recognized as one of the best school men in this state. Mr. Capps comes to Monett with a great record as a school worker and as a successful superintendent, having had ten years' experience as superintendent of schools.

Mr. Capps was raised in Dent county, and received his primary education in a country school, and has built himself up through his constant efforts until he is recognized not only in Missouri but in adjoining states as an efficient educator. After having had eight years' experience as a teacher, he assumed the superintendency of the schools at Braymer, in Caldwell county, Mo., for five years; and came from there to Mt. Vernon, where he was superintendent for two years. He comes here from Bolivar, where he superintended the schools for a period of three years.

Mr. Capps graduated from the State Normal School at Warrensburg with high honors, and between terms has taken his school work in the different universities and is now finishing his degree of bachelor of science in the Missouri State University.

A great deal of Mr. Capps' training has been under the direct supervision of Dean W. W. Charters of the University of Illinois, former Dean of the School of Education of the University of Missouri, who is recognized as a natural character in school work.

He is at the present time president of the Young Men's Education Club of Missouri and a member of Phi Delta Kappa, a national honorary educational fraternity. He is also chairman of the Department of Teacher Training Instructors of the state teachers' association of Missouri.

The greater portion of Superintendent Capps' educational activities has been in connection with the schools in Southwest Missouri, and his reputation as a conservative and progressive literary scholar and an accurate and careful instructor is well known throughout Missouri. The school at Bolivar under his superintendency has grown to be recognized as one of the best schools in the state and the enrollment in the high school at that place has more than doubled since his administration began.

Mr. Capps says he sees no reason why Monett should not be recognized as one among the best school towns in the state and believes that with the proper co-operation and support of the citizens and patrons our schools here should be one of the approved schools of the state.

The board also elected most of the grade teachers at their meeting and in doing so employed only those who have first grade certificates and thirty college hours to their credit. This standard is required in order for us to avail ourselves of the state aid in the teachers' training course. It is the purpose of the board and Superintendent Capps to re-instate and maintain the teachers' training course for the ensuing year. We are glad to see the board taking this progressive stand toward the advancement and uplift of our schools. We believe that they should and will have the co-operation and support of the entire community.

Communicated.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW

Prepared for The Monett Times by the St. Louis Union Bank, St. Louis, Mo.

Practically all export business is still being coordinated to the work of shipping food to the starving countries of Europe, and the amount of food that has been sent across from Atlantic points since January 1 makes a stupendous total.

An idea of the quantities of food going to Europe may be gained from the recently published statement that twelve transatlantic liners, carrying altogether 72,253 tons of food, left the port of Portland, Maine, between April 25 and May 9. Most of these ships went to Italy, although two were destined for England. When a comparatively small port such as Portland does a business of this volume, it is plain that tremendous shipments are being speeded across.

The statement issued recently by the United States Food Administration would not be necessary after June 30 gave great encouragement to the shipping trades. With the release of the large fleet controlled by the Shipping Board and now under charter to the Food Commission, tonnage requirements will become much easier and rates are certain to ease off.

Warehouses in New York and other cities along the Atlantic seaboard are crammed with goods that have been stored for months pending drop in ocean freight rates that will permit their being sent forward. At the same time the gradual adjustment of the labor troubles that tied up the port during the earlier spring months has made it possible to reduce the port congestion at New York and it is not nearly so bad as it was thirty days ago.
